SEA ISLE PARK: SIPNA'S CROWN JEWEL

By Tommy Crawford

Numerous studies have shown that parks and open space increase the value of neighboring residential property. In the book The Impact of Parks and Open Space on Property Values and the Property Tax Base, John Crompton, a professor at Texas A&M University, writes, "The real estate market consistently demonstrates that many people are willing to pay a larger amount for property close to parks and open space." Sea Isle Park area residents feel that parks are places to gather, to have fun and to experience the unique harmony between city and nature so they appreciate their neighborhood park for its natural and recreational features as well as its economic value. It is a great amenity for the neighborhood and the city of Memphis.

For over thirty-eight years, SIPNA has been working with the Memphis Park Commission and Park Services Division to improve our valuable open space by developing proposals and funding strategies in addition to making and to helping maintain the improvements. In 1980 SIPNA proposed that the maintenance and use of the surplus Memphis City Schools' land adjacent to Sea Isle School and the existing small park, be transferred to the Memphis Park Commission for recreation fields and that a walking trail and exercise stations be added. In 1996 SIPNA received a Community Compact Grant for trees, benches, and picnic tables around the new walking trail. In 2004 SIPNA spearheaded the designation of Sea Isle Park as a Certified Arboretum, located an International Paper grant to pay for the required identification labels for the trees, and installed the labels. In 2006 SIPNA Park Chairman Erin Walter organized two work days that involved SIPNA members in mulching the arboretum trees and in planting a beautiful new flower bed at the base of the Sea Isle Park sign at the park entrance on Wellsville Road.

In 2008 Molly Laster became the SIPNA Park Chairman and has taken the park to a new level. She has organized over 100 additional tree plantings along with additional shrubbery, flowers and an outdoor kiosk/two sided bulletin board. There are future memorial tree plantings coming this fall as well. Good citizens help polish the park's image by picking up trash left by litterbugs. SIPNA's Park Committee will continue to work with Park Services on projects such as plantings, security cameras, lighting, bike racks and the new dog park that is being sponsored by Hollywood Feeds. Further improvements have been made to the walking trail, playground and exercise equipment, benches and trash receptacles.

Please help SIPNA to keep our park and our state certified arboretum, attractive and to improve its facilities. To contact our SIPNA president and park chairman Molly Laster with your suggestions, comments or to get involved and volunteer your help, please email: sipna@sipna.org

Sea Isle Park with its State Certified Arboretum is a priceless amenity which we should all take great pride in and enjoy its everlasting beauty!

You've likely seen Molly working and walking in the park. Stop and introduce yourself, and volunteer some time to help keep our park alive and well.

October is Crime Prevention Month

All of us are concerned about crime in the Sea Isle Park neighborhood, so this is an opportune time to write an article about crime prevention. I am a clinical psychologist who specializes in adolescent behavior and an Assistant Professor at UTHSC. But more importantly, I was an active member of a neighborhood association in Kentucky that worked to reduce crime dramatically after an influx of college students into our area. How did we do it? Let me share with you what I know from my own experiences.

First, remember that most crime is perpetrated by teenagers who live in our own neighborhood. It's easier to break into a car when you know the owner's schedule. Second, most crime is spur-of-the-moment, not planned or used to target someone. Petty theft is nothing to fear but needs to be addressed.

So how do we deter our friendly neighborhood thieves? We build an environment that deters crime.

Strategies you already know: Simple prevention efforts are still the best ones.

- |  |  |
|--|--|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Lock doors and windows                    | <input type="checkbox"/> Lock cars             |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Keep areas around cars and house well lit | <input type="checkbox"/> Install alarm systems |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Get a dog                                 | <input type="checkbox"/> Get a video camera    |

Strategies you may not know:

- ☐ Clean up. Tidy neighborhoods show that residents are paying attention.
- ☐ Mow the grass, trim the bushes. Reduce places for thieves to hide.
- ☐ Know your neighbors and invite them to events. When people (teenagers included) feel the neighborhood is their family, they are less likely to do things that would hurt it.
- ☐ Form a crime prevention committee to keep an eye on crime trends and develop resources (write grants, ask for police attention) to help keep crime at bay.

When my neighborhood in Kentucky saw an increase in crime after college students moved in, we passed out flyers to encourage good safety practices. But more importantly, we began inviting the students to neighborhood picnics to get them to know their neighbors and invest in their surroundings. We saw a significant drop in crime. We in SPINA have a terrific community. Let's work together to keep crime low.

SIPNA Meeting: October 18th, Thurs. 7p ★ DUES Due!

Did you think we forgot about an August Yard of the Month? Oh no... not at all... it was awarded to 1252 Mt. Moriah, but we were never able to talk with the property owner Steven Hubbard or anyone at the house... so no article. But, we liked the neatness and simplicity of the yard... a pretty sight along this busy street.

For September, the sign is "planted" in Charline Edwards' yard at 1389 S. White Station. Charline and her late husband moved into his family home in 2002. Several years ago, they contemplated moving to Collierville, but instead did upgrades to their home that included landscape designs for front and back yards that cut down on yardwork. The front beds include ferns and roses, the side beds are containers that sometimes have vegetable plants. The carport is now an outdoor room to watch the world go by.

As you drive down Mount Moriah and White Station, slow down and admire these two yards.

We have 2 more Yards to award in 2018: October for Halloween and December for Christmas. So send us some homes to check out!

Fall is one of the most beautiful times of the year in our neighborhood, thanks to our trees and their leaves. Drive around and admire the colors!!!

Susie Hudson

From its beautiful park to the family-like community, it's no secret that Sea Isle Park is one of the best neighborhoods to live in Memphis. Residents in the neighborhood are always quick to help one another and look out for their fellow neighbors. It's this type of selfless camaraderie that makes Sea Isle Park such a tight-knit community. Despite its devout sense of community, the needs of our beloved neighbors change and life requires them to move on to the next chapter, and thus, move away from Sea Isle Park. This cycle inevitably brings in new neighbors to our community; this is where the SIPNA Welcome Home Committee comes into the picture.

The SIPNA Welcome Home Committee is dedicated to making sure our new neighbors feel welcomed and know that they are now a part of the SIPNA family. The committee is made up of several volunteers all over the neighborhood that deliver bags filled with SIPNA gear and information about restaurants in the area (and even some coupons!) to people and families that have just moved into Sea Isle Park. This is a wonderful opportunity for neighbors to meet and get to know each other, and maybe even make a close friend in the process! The neighbors in Sea Isle Park truly showcase what a caring, friendly, and devoted community should look like, and that's definitely something to be proud of, so keep up the good work!

Grand Opening – Saturday, September 8, 2018

The Grand Opening of the Sea Isle Dog Park, at least for me, ranks up there with the time I exchanged wedding vows, and the day I stood before the Orthodox Jewish congregation, and became a Bar Mitzvah. But the dog park opening was flawless, unlike the other aforementioned events.

Kimmie & Hal

No one could have asked for better weather. In fact, there was an 80% chance of thunderstorms at 10:00 a.m., and the forecast called for showers and thunderstorms throughout the day. But lo and behold, at 10:00a.m., the clouds parted, the sun beams beamed, the gates to the dog park were opened, and suddenly there was a flurry of mass fine furred canines leaping and flying over the berms. They were alive but somehow had transcended and found their way over to the fabled rainbow bridge!

Multi-breed, pedigree, domestic, international, and Native-American canines were in abundance.

Cross-cultural barriers were non-existent. Shelter dogs mixed with the upper-class pampered class and there was not one skirmish between any of the dogs. Before and during construction of the dog park, many people expressed a concern that the park was not going to be divided into separate areas for large dogs and smaller dogs. After explaining that dogs are social creatures, the only time they actually fight is when they feel threatened, usually in situations when they are unable to flee as in "flight or fight." There is so much room to run at Sea Isle, and the berms are such a natural distraction the last thing dogs want to do is fight. Like girls, dogs just want to have fun!

▲ It's ours! It's all ours!

▼ "If you build it, they will come..." '...with their little dog, too!'

I declined to sample even though they looked really good!

Other phases for improvement to the dog park are being discussed. There are 2 offers to run a water line to the park for water stations/misters and to provide canopies for the benches and a circular pad with a statue of a fallen canine officer in the center of the park with benches. Additional landscaping is in the works!

Hal B. Lovett

Original, non-scientific estimates were that 150+ people plus animals attended the grand opening ceremony. Hollywood Feed was present and gave out bags of treats to the pets. They were even serving what looked like human cookies and after explaining they were actually doggie biscuits of sorts,

ON THE SCENE

Sea Isle Park Neighborhood is full of foodies and you will see reviews all the time on our Facebook page. That's why when Jesse McDonald and his family moved into SIPNA and announced he was opening a wings food truck in September; we could not wait! The wait is over.

Jesse is a Memphian, raised in Midtown and a graduate of Central High School. He moved to Murfreesboro and attended MTSU, majoring in Business Administration. After college, he moved to Nashville and worked as Operations Manager for FedEx until deciding the corporate world was not for him.

He loved to cook so he jumped right into it and then realized he jumped too fast. "I needed experience first."

Jesse started working for one of the first companies in Nashville that delivered to your home from restaurants. From there, he went to a sushi restaurant learning the food prep end of the business. He got really good and started making his own specials. Then he got an opportunity to work on a food truck called Music City Brisket, where he got the idea of starting a food truck.

"I have a four year old and a nine month old. My wife and I knew we wanted to come back home to Memphis and when we got pregnant with our second child, we made the decision to move and open the food truck. I didn't know anything about Sea Isle but we found two houses here we loved and bought the one we are in. We are very happy here and the area is phenomenal. We volunteered at the SIPNA 5k and met a lot of neighbors and have had nothing but excitement from the neighborhood about the food truck."

When asked how the name New Wing Order came about, Jesse said, "It's a play off the 1990's New World Order wrestling group. We started out as a cooking team and we spun it off since we were entering contests strictly for charity. Now that we have a business, we kept the name because of our following but we did rebrand the logo."

"Memphis is a huge wing town. What sets us apart is our menu because it is not traditional. Our signature flavor is Memphis Buffalo Sauce, which we have won twice and placed a couple of times at the Southern Hot Wing Festival. It's a hybrid between buffalo sauce and barbecue sauce. It's our best seller. We also have Lynchburg Fire which we actually use Jack Daniels Tennessee whiskey and cook it down in the sauce. There's Tennessee Teriyaki which uses local honey along with Cajun Honey Hot which is a popular flavor that we add a Cajun twist to. We also have different options like our Fried Avocado Taco which is completely vegan. We are always trying to make our menus outside the box. My Mom is a vegan so I didn't want to have a food truck she couldn't eat at."

To see where Jesse will be next, follow his Facebook page called New Wing Order.

Wishing you much success from SIPNA.
